Our Story

Before starting Adda Veggie, founder Trishna Saigal (PhD in Formulation Science) worked as the lead developer on a variety of plant-based dairy and meat alternatives, bringing 40+ products to market. Along the way, she realized that there was an opportunity to create a different, healthier approach to plant-based eating rooted in fresh vegetables.

She created Adda Veggie in 2019 to welcome more people to the table to enjoy healthy plant-based food. Adda Veggie is a certified women- and minority-owned Public Benefit Corporation. Our mission is to make plant-based food accessible, inclusive and equitable.
